BURLEY FARMS
TRAIL GUIDE

Where People and Nature Meet

Burley Farms was conserved in 2015 in partnership with the Burley family, who has deep connections to Epping and roots in the community going back more than 200 years. Excited by SELT’s vision for this land as a center of community engagement, the Burleys sold the farmland and house for less than half of its appraised value.

Burley Farms includes nearly 238 acres of fields, forests, and wetlands, running along both sides of North River Road to the unmaintained Range Road to the north and Dimond Hill Road to the east. Hayfields and shrubland abut an expansive 40-acre beaver pond, which hosts myriad wildlife, including a great blue heron rookery. The remaining land is a mix of forests and links to other land conserved by SELT along the Wild and Scenic Lamprey River.

This land is owned and managed by SELT with portions subject to a conservation easement held by the Society for the Protection of New Hampshire Forests and the U.S. Natural Resources Conservation Service.

Enjoy the Trails!

Trail Descriptions

- Blue Trail
Enjoy an easy walk through the upper field of Burley Farms, which will take you along the outlet of the beaver pond as it leaves the property. If your timing is right you'll be able to see some busy beaver activity!
- Yellow Trail
You can access this trail off of the Range Road Class A trail off of North River Road. The Yellow Trail brings you to a hilltop for a nice view across the property, where you can see the top of Bald Hill.
- Red Trail
An easy jaunt around and through the fields overlooking the beaver pond. Be sure to stop by the Bird and Wildlife Sanctuary for a chance to catch sight of some shrubland-loving creatures.
- Green Trail
This short trail through the woods offers a simple walk with some scenic variety.
